The Title IX Coordinator/Associate Title IX Coordinator has the authority to implement any of the following measures if the health and/or safety of either party is at risk. In addition, the following interim measures may be granted to the reporting or responding party (hereafter party/parties) by the Title IX Coordinator/Associate Title IX (or designee) upon the party’s request.

Resource Support: Counseling, Health Service, and Campus Ministry Staffs
The Counseling Office can assist in dealing with emotional issues; the Health Services Office can assist in dealing with physical issues; and the Campus Ministry Office can assist with spiritual issues. See (ask for) “Campus Resources” in this publication series.

No Contact Order (NCO)
A NCO requires that both parties refrain from contacting the other party through any means (e.g. face-to-face, in writing, through friends or other persons, electronically/social media). A NCO will stay in effect until such time as both parties are officially notified in writing that the NCO has been terminated. Violations of the NCO will be considered a form of retaliation.

Resident Hall Relocation
A requesting party may be granted relocation to another floor or resident hall. The Title IX Coordinator will work with the Director of Residence Life to accomplish this. Any relocation is subject to the availability of resident hall space.

Academic Accommodation
Upon request, The Title IX Coordinator or designee will work with the party and the Student Learning Resource Center to make programs, services, activities, and facilities accessible to the party. This includes but is not limited to peer tutoring, supplemental instruction, academic skill development, writing workshops, test preparation, study techniques and time management.

The party may also request a reassignment to another section of his/her course. If this is not possible, the party may request to complete the course as an independent study.

Campus Escort Service
Campus Safety Officers will provide an escort to or from any parking lot on campus to the closest building entrance for any student or employee upon request. Students requesting an escort to the parking structure should meet Campus Safety Officers at the entrance to Albrecht/Wartburg. Escorts can be requested by calling Campus Safety at (262) 243-4344 or Ext: 4344 from an on campus phone.

Other: The party may request any other reasonable accommodation that is not listed above.
