

7-Places to Study Around CUW

Of course there are obvious places to study around CUW, like the quiet section of the library, the nest and empty classrooms, and give you some fresh ideas for places to study both on and off campus. Here are our top seven places for you to get your study on.

Pharmacy Building

1

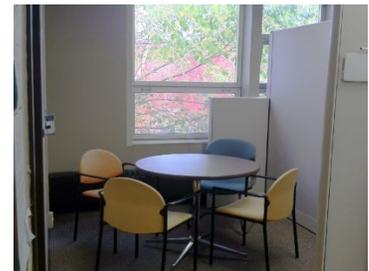

Many students falsely believe that the Pharm building is ONLY for Pharm students. While a Pharm student may shoot you a glaring look if you are being too loud, no one is going to stop you from using this beautiful and (mostly) quiet space for studying.

The LRC

2

The ARC is known for offering free tutoring and writing help to CUW students, but they also offer quiet study cubicles. Just stop by the ARC and if a cubicle is open, ask the front desk worker if you can use it for studying. And hey, if you get stumped on your homework, what better place to be than the ARC?

The Undercroft

3

There are couches, only a few people, it's quiet and secluded. If you are really looking to buckle down in silence, The Undercroft (located under the Chapel) is a great place to study!

Regents Atrium

4

The Regents Atrium is bright, has awesome views and a ton of tables to spread out all your homework and notes. It's a great place to study with larger groups, read, or think through science and math problems.

Coburg Lounges

5

So you don't live in Coburg? Oh well! You can still use the Coburg Lounge study rooms or the comfy chairs with the awesome views of Lake Michigan. (Bonus: The new Chemnitz building also has some pretty sweet lounges as well!)

Panera Bread

6

The Panera on Mequon Rd. & County Hwy W. has free WI-FI and free coffee refills. Need we say more?

Anywhere Outside

7

You may as well take advantage of the outdoors when the weather is right! We all know great weather is fantastic but fleeting. Whether you choose the beach, the chapel courtyard, or the bluff, the many outdoor spaces surrounding Concordia are perfect for deep reflection and studying. Enjoy!
