A Mighty Fortress is Our God

LSB #657

Arr.

Valerie W. Stephenson

Jane Michael, trumpet

The church celebrates the Reformation each fall, and Martin Luther's robust "A Mighty Fortress" is a hymn frequently sung and played at festival services. The strength and comfort of the Lord shown in this hymn (based on Psalm 46) is displayed by the added solo trumpet.

Come You Thankful People Come

LSB #892

Arr. Hart Morris

This vibrant arrangement of a long-standing English harvest hymn opens with a fanfare and features different handbell techniques, a key change, and meter changes.

Alleluia Ringers

Prelude on Thaxted Arr. Michael Helman
LSB #941

English composer Gustav Holst wrote a tune that he used in the Jupiter movement of The Planets. The tune was named after a village in England where he spent much of his later life. It has since been used as a national hymn in England and with other Christian hymn texts.

Jazz Pizzicato

Arr. Martha Lynn Thompson

American “pops” composer Leroy Anderson is best known for his holiday piece “Sleigh Ride.” Enjoy this handbell arrangement of one of his earlier works, played almost entirely with mallets.

Salute to Our Military

Arr. Valerie W. Stephenson

In honor of Veterans Day next week, we play this patriotic medley to show our thanks to God for the protection He has given us through many dedicated servicemen and servicewomen.

Meet the Directors

Kris Karnopp is an adjunct instructor in music at CUW and the director of the Alleluia Ringers. She lives in West Bend, Wisconsin and is a free-lance music teacher and church musician. A graduate of Martin Luther College and Concordia University Chicago, Kris has been blessed to teach in Lutheran elementary classrooms and to lead church vocal, instrumental, and handbell groups for the past 30+ years. She has thoroughly enjoyed working with the talented, ambitious members of Alleluia Ringers this semester.

Jenee O'Connor is an adjunct instructor in music at CUW and the director of the Concordia Civic Chorale. She received her BME from Lawrence Conservatory of Music in Appleton, and a Master of Worship Studies from the Robert E. Webber Institute for Worship Studies in Jacksonville, FL. Jenee previously taught middle school and high school general music and choral classes in the Cochrane-Fountain City School District and at Homestead High School. She has served as the Worship Ministry Associate Director at Crossroads Presbyterian Church in Mequon since 2005. She also teaches private voice and beginning piano lessons from her home studio in Cedarburg.
